Metro Aviation launches eManWeb™ Technical Publications Management Solution

AviIT, Inc. is pleased to announce that Metro Aviation has launched the MedEvac industry's first web-based technical publications management solution. AviIT's "eManWeb" makes available all Metro Aviation technical publications, OEM applications, ERP programs, electronic files, and other company maintenance documentation to all authorized users via the eManWeb portal.

"Very seldom does a product come along that has the potential to truly and substantially reduce work load, increase productivity and assure compliance with the Federal Aviation Regulations like the eManWeb" eManWeb virtually eliminates the need for costly duplicate subscriptions and ensures complete revision management, audit capabilities, compliance tracking and version control. eManWeb also allows temporary access to 3rd. party vendors with safety and security. There are no licenses to purchase, no hardware to install, and no long-term commitments.

Milton K. Geltz, Managing Director Metro Aviation, Inc.

"We are pleased that Metro Aviation has taken an industry- leading role by launching the web based version of the eMan solution. Metro Aviation is already realizing the benefits of eManWeb, which include substantial reduction in costs. We look forward to working with Metro Aviation to offer further innovative solutions moving forward".

Vince Doherty, Vice-President of AviIT, Inc.
