Skyservice BAS Launches AvilT's eMan Technical Publication Management Solution

AvilT, Inc. a leading provider of aviation maintenance software solutions is pleased to announce that Toronto-based Skyservice Business Aviation, Inc. one of the largest fixed-base operators (FBO) in North America, has selected AvilT's "eMan" technical publication management solution for immediate implementation within its FBO maintenance organization.

After a comprehensive evaluation process, Skyservice BAS selected AvilT's eMan solution in part because of its ability to provide easy access to all aircraft technical publications, OEM manuals and websites from a single centralized location, substantially improving operational efficiency for all users. eMan will also seamlessly integrate to Skyservices' ERP solution while also providing a comprehensive set of library management tools that will reduce administrative and IT workload as well as ensure complete version control of all aircraft maintenance documents. The deployment of eMan will greatly reduce publication costs by eliminating unnecessary duplication of information.

"eMan will allow us to provide more efficient, higher quality services to our customers by ensuring everyone within our maintenance organization has access to only the current revision of any technical publication, manual, service bulletin, or other electronic file from a single-centralized location,"

Pat Melen, Vice-President Maintenance

"We are pleased to have been selected by Skyservice BAS to implement eMan. We're also excited to have successfully integrated the eMan solution into the Skyservice BAS ERP solution, thus enabling instant access to all OEM maintenance publications from within the ERP tool. This "first-of-it's-kind" integrated solution reinforces SkyService BAS commitment to quality and safety. We look forward to continuing to offer value and ongoing support".
